menting one another as professionals. Peter believes in the collaborative approach. From his Design Services subs/suppliers to his peer builders, with whom he collaborates to achieve the results that the customer desires, true professionalism is at work.

Pictured in this feature is a sampling of the products of Design Services. For example:

1. The addition of complete living quarters over a garage with particular attention paid to the views and terrain surrounding the structure. It took vision and inch-by-inch planning of space to achieve this home.

2. An addition added to create a designer kitchen for two people who cook simultaneously, along with a family room and dining room that flow with the original house.

3. A remodeled kitchen that was awarded a New Mexico Home Builders Association "Las Casitas" award for 1999.

4. Last but not least, a complete home (pictured on the cover) designed by Peter due to the client's dissatisfaction with two different architects. His client says, "No one could give me what I really wanted." Peter obviously listened, and fulfilled her dream plan.

No matter what the need, Design Services, under the guidance of Peter Merrill, will evaluate, consult, recommend and perform to satisfy the client's desires and needs, for a new kitchen, bath, or a full house plan.

The next two pages are dedicated to builders who not only were awarded the "Best Floor Plan" for the Haciendas, A Parade of Homes of Santa Fe, but work in a collaborative arrangement with Design Services to create a complete package for their clients' desires and lifestyles. The kitchens, baths and built-ins are part of the Design Services package. This unique relationship can only tell a client that these professionals care and will perform in an award-winning fashion. Congratulations to Design Services and Peter Merrill, The Unger Corporation and Bruce Thompson Associates as true builders for the new millennium.

The "Las Casitas" award-winning kitchen that was once a dark, out-of-date, closed-off area. This is a transformation for the Wilsons of Los Alamos, who enjoy this accomplishment and are one of the many satisfied customers of Design Services. The functional Corian countertops, by Beautiful Wood, accentuate the large work area. Photography by Lynne Lawlor.
